Chair: Robert Watt (King's College London); Co-Chair: Mark Kluzek (King's College London)

Agenda

10.00am – 10.20am: Welcome and introductions.

10.20am – 11.10am: “Implementing ILLs in Aleph – a beginner’s experience” - Marissa Collins (Kingston University).

Kingston University have recently acquired Aleph. Marissa outlines their experiences with the ILL module to date.

11.10am – 11.30am: Coffee and refreshments (provided)

11.30am – 12.45pm: “Resource sharing with Alma” – Axel Kaschte (Strategy Director Europe, Ex Libris).

Resource Sharing is a major component of today’s workflows in libraries. It does not only cover inter library loan of physical material. Document delivery of paper copies and more and more digital copies are taking center stage. Even shared access to remote e-resources is possible today with selected licenses. It is a mixture of different media types, different access rights and delivery mechanisms. The unified world of Alma allows to consolidate many of the tasks into unified workflows. This short presentation will be an introduction into general ideas of how resource sharing will be handled in Alma.

12.45pm – 01.30pm: Lunch (provided)

01.30pm – 02.00pm: Aleph ILL enhancements and NERS voting – Robert Watt (King’s College London).

A review of new features in Aleph 21 and the enhancements voting process for Aleph 22.

02.00pm – 02.30pm: Centralised ILL workflows at King’s College London – Mark Kluzek/Robert Watt (King’s College London).

Since 2010, Information Resources have been running a centralised ILL service, serving a multi campus institution. Mark and Robert outline some of workflows and challenges involved.

02.30pm – 02.45pm: Coffee and refreshments (provided).

02.45pm – 03.45pm: Aleph ILL question and answer session – Robert Watt (Chair)

An open forum for attendees to share their experiences of the ILL module.

03.45pm – 04.00pm: Round up
